The Role

- Utilise programming skills to design and build apps and solutions to support external and internal clients.
- Integrate with existing technology stacks and leverage business systems.
- Provide advice on programming and web technologies to the Geospatial and Digital Services team and the wider business.
- Assist with data management and administration of ArcGIS Online and Enterprise.
- Undertake geospatial analysis and develop workflows.
- Support existing clients and helping to secure new ones.

You will need

- Minimum 8 years' experience in a consulting or software development environment.
- Experience developing web apps using ArcGIS API for JavaScript would be an advantage.
- Strong skills for front end development using HTML, CSS
- Database skills, particularly with Microsoft SQL Server.
- Good knowledge and experience with the .Net framework would be an advantage.
- Strong verbal and written communication skills.
- Proven leadership skills.
- Creative thinking to find innovative solutions for our clients.
- A collegiate, team-player attitude.
