

Service Leader/Technical Director - Geospatial | Auckland

Join an established and highly respected environmental and engineering consultancy with a nationwide presence. Driven by solving the important infrastructure and environmental challenges facing NZ, we are still growing and invite you to be part of our future. You will be working in a business that prides itself on our people-focused culture, our fun workplace, and our creative thinking and sound advice.

We are looking for a driven Geospatial Service Leader or Technical Director who will be responsible for leading geospatial projects and increasing PDP's geospatial capabilities in our Auckland office. The role will interface with a range of PDP's clients as well as provide support across all PDP's workgroups.

The Role

- Provide technical leadership and lead innovations within the Geospatial and Digital Services team, also supporting internal and external clients.
- Lead the Geospatial and Digital Services team in the Auckland office, managing project workload and providing support, mentoring. Participate in implementation and development of standards and systems.
- Leverage existing business systems and develop new systems across the business.
- Raise PDP's profile in the geospatial sector and cultivate business development opportunities across the North Island.
- Collaborate on business planning, lead tenders/bids for geospatial projects and contribute to other workgroups bids where there is a spatial component.

You will need

- A relevant degree in Geography, GIS or computer science supported by at least 10- years' experience in GIS, preferably in a professional consulting environment.
- Commercial acumen in understanding the needs of the clients and the value PDP can add to their business.
- Strong verbal and written communication skills.
- Proven leadership skills.
- Creative thinking to find innovative solutions for our clients.
- A collegiate, team-player attitude.
