

Senior/Principal Wastewater Engineer | Auckland, Christchurch or Tauranga

This is a great opportunity for a driven professional to join an established and highly respected environmental and engineering consultancy with a nationwide presence. With over 200 professionals, we aim to cover the entire range of environmental services in air, land and water. We have one of the most capable three-waters teams in New Zealand.

Due to continued growth in provision of wastewater engineering consulting services, we are seeking an engineer that has experience working with clients to provide engineering planning, design, process construction, and operational services for wastewater and/or water systems. You will be given the opportunity to work on a wide range of projects and continue building your career learning from the best in class.

The Role

- To lead and provide support for our teams on optimisation studies at feasibility, concept, optioneering and design stages.
- Provide for expertise in process engineering capability to develop processes for start-up and commissioning of wastewater treatment facilities, process optimisation, and trouble-shooting process problems.
- Involved in front end engineering design of water treatment and wastewater treatment plants
- Undertake and participate in project life cycle assessment, from initial optioneering to full scale design assistance, commissioning, handover and operational support.
- Get involved in business development with a view to strengthening client relationships.

You will need

- An accredited degree qualification in a process related discipline (chemical, civil, environmental or mechanical with wastewater process design)
- Minimum 6 years' experience in wastewater process design and modelling experience in wastewater process is preferred
- Chartered Professional Engineer (CPEng) qualified (or equivalent) or well-progressed towards qualification
- Strong verbal and written communication skills.
